

Elizabeth Foy, D.D.

Dr. Elizabeth Foy is an ordained minister with AEGA Ministries International located in Monroe, Louisiana . Her husband, Rev. Ray Foy is also an ordained minister with AEGA. Together they minister through their ministry called “Highway & Hedges.” She has had the unusual honor of being the only female chaplain of motorcycle clubs in the southeast United States in recent years. She is one of the founders of Kairos Outside of Louisiana, which ministers to the loved ones of incarcerated people. Those who know her realize that incarcerated boys have become her heart. Along with her husband, she ministers in prisons and at biker rallies, in addition to speaking at women’s conferences. She holds a Doctorate of Divinity Degree. Her unique “sweet anointing” comes across as she ministers that keeps congregations fixed on her every word.

Dr. Foy left a career as an insurance agent and joined the AEGA staff where she works in the records department and serves on the credential committee. With her knowledge of insurance, she helps ministries and churches acquire the proper insurance. She is the International Director of the AEGA Women For Christ Department which now has chapters in the US and around the world. Elizabeth has two sons and a beautiful granddaughter, Brooke, who cannot wait to grow up and minister with her grandmother.
